Haunted TV - The old dears, residents of the Pine Ridge Care Home, insist 'faces' appear on the old telly, even when it's not plugged in. Haunted? Lucy seems to think so, but she's in for a surprise during her investigation. One of the faces is Nigel. How is that possible? And what is the cryptic message he wishes to impart? "Lucy, don't trust... I was wrong, it's not it's a trap, we will..." then he's gone, again.

Witch Bottle Crafting - In his battle against the on-coming darkness, Nigel must utilise every means possible, even if Nanny Noah insists that the Dark Arts are dangerous and untrustworthy. Crafting Witches Bottles, in Celtic Corner, is one such 'art'. It takes skill, understanding and a cornucopia of esoteric ingredients. Hunting and foraging for the best items is essential, around Saxton and the wider world. Keep 'em peeled!

Feline Intuition: Mr.Tibb's has grown into quite the ghost-hunter! Nigel has been mastering 'animal affinity', so he can guide his furry friend around areas inaccessible to people. Some say animals, especially pets, can sense ghosts, and danger. Mr.Tibbs would agree! There's something wrong in the Pine Ridge Care Home. Who are the Shadowmen? Why do they stalk the hallways of the old people's home? What is it they want?
